

JOHN E. CAREY, JR.

John E. Carey, Jr. is a member of the Georgetown University undergraduate class of 1968, was drafted upon graduation from college and served as a First Lieutenant in the United States Army Security Agency through 1972. He graduated from Hastings College of Law in 1975 and was admitted to the bar that same year. He was born in Newport, Rhode Island, and currently resides with his wife and the youngest of his three children in Moraga, California.

His litigation practice has included matters involving anti-trust, tender offer, real estate broker E&O, officers & directors liability, entertainment law, venture capital abuse, commercial landlord/tenant, lender liability, complex construction litigation, civil rights, inverse condemnation, employment discrimination, business torts, and personal injury with over 30 jury trials. In addition to his normal practice Mr. Carey conducts non-binding arbitrations for the Superior Courts in the local jurisdictions.